Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2018028939A1] The invention relates to a tool (1) for inserting or removing a wire thread insert. The spindle body inserted in the tool (1) has a radial recess (30), through which an engaging end (24) of the installation blade engages a wire thread insert. The radial recess (30) has a curvilinear circumferential contour or at least one relief notch (40), which serve for mechanical tension relief in the spindle body (10).
