Abstract (en)

[origin: CN109944024A] The invention relates to a spraying unit (13), which is used to spray spraying fog into the washing roller of a washing machine (1). In order to reduce the cost for maintaining the washing machine (1) and simplify the maintenance operation, the spraying unit (13) comprises a holding unit (25), which is connected to a support plate (2) of the washing machine; and a nozzle unit (26) that can be nondestructively released from the holding unit (25). The nozzle unit (26) comprises a nozzle section (36) provided with at least one nozzle opening (37). A moving outline (38) is formed on the periphery of the nozzle section.
