Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2018087672A1] A bed (MC) is described comprising a hollow base container (10), a flat platform (20) tiltable relative to the container, a support for objects (80) which remains housed in the base container when the platform is in a position maximally close to the base container, and a lifting device (72, 74) for lifting the support with respect to the base container and holding it in a raised position. The bed allows easy cleaning of the objects placed in the base container.
