Abstract (en)

A household appliance (1) comprises a front wall (7.1, 11.1) having an outer surface which a user is facing when operating the household appliance (1) and an inner surface which is directed towards the interior (5) of the household appliance (1). The front wall (7.1, 11.1) is at least partially made of light-transmissive material, preferably of a glass sheet. According to the invention, the front wall (7.1, 11.1) comprises at least one first portion or first area (7.1f, 11.1b) of said light-transmissive material that is non-transparent or that at most enables a blurred, an unclear or bleary view through the light-transmissive material. Further disclosed is a method for producing a front wall (7.1) of a household appliance (1) or a front wall (11.1) of a component (11) for a household appliance (1), which component front wall (11) being adapted to define a household appliance wall.
