Abstract (en)

A wind-proofing pad for use in wind-proofing an inclined roof structure with a window frame installed therein is disclosed. The pad comprises a first section configured to extend along a first inner side of the roof structure facing the roof opening, and a second section configured to extend along a second inner side. The first and second sections are interconnected along a connecting line. Further a kit including such pads and method for installing a window frame in a roof structure are disclosed. According to the method an installation frame is arranged on the roof structure, underroof sections are folded up along the inner side of the opening in the roof structure and attached to an exterior side of the installation frame. At least one pad is applied at each corner, so that an uninterrupted wind-proofing extending along the entire inner edge is provided, before installing the window frame.
