Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2018146175A1] Rack to transport containers of liquids, in particular in washer machines, comprising a containing body (12) where the containers (11) can be housed and a lid (13) for closing the containing body (12); the lid (13) is formed by at least two sections (113, 213) connected by articulation means (21), so that they can rotate reciprocally from at least one extraction or insertion position of the lid (13) from or into the containing body (12), in which the lid (13) assumes a folded configuration, and at least a second position in which the lid (13) closes the containing body (12), or vice versa. The rack also comprises a clamping device (25) which can be selectively actuated to keep the lid (13) in the position where it closes the containing body (12).
