Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2018158151A2] The invention relates to a construction panel (40) for a side of an item of furniture of a furniture body (10), comprising a plate-shaped central part (41) having a first front surface (411) and other front surfaces (412, 413, 414), and a cut-out (42) is arranged in the central part (41), said cut-out extending at least along one section of the first front surface (411) of the construction panel and is used to accommodate a stop (30) which guides a moveable furniture part. The construction panel (40) is characterized in that it comprises, in the region of at least one of the additional front surfaces (412, 413, 414), at least one machinable section (412', 413', 414') which is outside of the cut-out (42). The invention also relates to a method for producing said type of construction panel (40) and a side of an item of furniture and item of furniture body (10) or an item of furniture having said type of side.
