Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2019009853A1] The invention is a method of producing chocolate eggs in a shell structure comprising a step of supplying a liquid chocolate by means of a depositor (20, 40) to a mold assembly (10) comprising at least one first cavity (12) accessible from top and in an egg halve form. Production method further comprises the steps of supplying a first molten liquid chocolate (25) to at least one second cavity (14) equipped with a predetermined canvas at the periphery of the first cavity (12); cooling the first liquid chocolate (25) in an at least partially crystal form an top chocolate layer (62); supplying a molten second liquid chocolate (45) to the first cavity (12) covering the top chocolate layer (62) and pressing the first cavity (12) by means of a frozen cone (50) up to a distance of a thin wall thickness in such a way that the first cavity (12) is covered with the second liquid chocolate (45) forming a solid base chocolate layer (64) of a thin wall.
