Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2018166918A2] The invention relates to an upholstery supply system for a logistics centre, for example a warehouse or a shipping hall, comprising an upholstery source for providing upholstery products such as cushions, in particular paper cushions, also comprising several packing stations on which containers are loaded with goods and can be filled with upholstery products, and an upholstery transporting system, such as a conveyor belt, for transporting the upholstery products from the upholstery source to the packing station. Said upholstery supply system is designed to supply the several packing stations with upholstery.
