Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2019077101A1] A rear diffuser (10) of a motor vehicle, comprising a primary panel (20) and at least one secondary panel (30), each of these panels (20, 30) being movable between a deployed position and a retracted position when the rear diffuser (10) is attached to a vehicle bodywork part. When the bodywork part is attached to a motor vehicle, the secondary panel (30) is completely invisible from the outside in the retracted position, and blocks the opening (50) between the bodywork part and the primary panel (20) in the deployed position.
