Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2020193635A1] The invention relates to a pool, also referred to as a swimming pool, for receiving one or more persons in order to play sports or perform activities for relaxation, comprising at least one base and a delimiting wall. The base and the delimiting wall enclose an inner volume, and the base and the delimiting wall is each made of one or more monolithic natural stones. The monolithic natural stones are interconnected and are connected within the base and the delimiting wall and to the connecting surfaces between the base and the delimiting wall in a bonded and water-tight manner. The invention additionally relates to the use of such a pool as a swimming pool and to a method for producing such a pool.
