Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2019174763A1] A material collection equipment (100) includes a handle (102), a storage compartment (108), an implement compartment (110), an axle (206), and a pair of wheels (112). The material collection equipment (100) also includes an implement (208) adapted to collect the material from a ground surface and transfer the material into the storage compartment (108). The implement (208) includes a first flange portion (302) having at least one first tab (304) and a first blade (306) coupled thereto. The implement (208) includes a second flange portion (308) having at least one second tab (310) and a second blade (312) coupled thereto. The implement (208) further includes a locking element (318) having at least one first opening (320) adapted to slidably receive the at least one first tab (304) therein. The locking element (318) also includes at least one second opening (324) adapted to slidably receive the at least one second tab (310) therein.
