Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2019220124A1] A banknote storage cassette for storing banknotes within a bag held within the cassette is disclosed. The bag has a base and an open mouth joined by flexible bag material. The banknote storage cassette comprises: a bag registration feature for holding, in use, an open mouth of a bag at a fixed location; a biasing element biased towards the fixed location, thereby capable of urging, in use, a base of the bag that is in contact with the biasing element towards an initial position; a pushing surface moveable between a retracted position in which it defines, at least in part, a first side of a banknote stacking space within which a stack of banknotes can be formed and an advanced position in which it reaches the initial position, thereby pushing a stack of banknotes formed in the banknote stacking space onto the base of the bag; at least one stacking surface moveable between a stacking position in which it defines, at least in part, a second side of the banknote stacking space that is opposite to the first side, and a loading position in which it allows passage of the pushing surface as it moves from the retracted to the advanced position; and at least one banknote retaining element for holding, in use, a stack of banknotes against a base of the bag when the pushing surface is in the retracted position.
