Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2020052777A1] The invention relates to a storage device (1) which comprises a plurality of storage containers (15), which include at least one first storage container (15a) and at least one second storage container (15b). The container housings (15, 15a, 15b) comprise on the outer faces thereof an identical, uniform housing fastening interface (20), to which a first handle (52a) is attached in order to form a first storage container (2a), and to which a second handle (52b) is attached in order to form a second storage container (2b). The first handle (52a) is a pivotable carrying handle, around which a hand can grip. The second handle (52b) is designed as a pull handle which cannot be gripped, which has a grip strip (50) behind which the fingers of a hand can grip.
