Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2020104421A1] Changeable rolling stand (10) for a rolling mill, preferably for rolling cylindrical stock, such as for instance rods, seamless tubes and/or wires, which can be moved along a maintenance direction (Wa) between a working position and a maintenance position and has: at least one media line (12), which transports a medium, preferably electricity and/or a fluid, used for operating the rolling stand (10); and a cable trailing device (20), which is designed such that the rolling stand (10) can be moved along the maintenance direction (Wa) by the distance between the working position and the maintenance position without the media line (12) having to be disconnected from the rolling stand (10).
