Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2020127585A1] The invention relates to a method for producing a sheet of a material containing alkaloids, the method comprising: • Mixing (105) a material containing alkaloids with water to form a slurry; • Forming (108) a sheet from the slurry; • Compressing (109) the sheet between a first pair of rollers, wherein at the beginning of the step of compressing the sheet, a water content of the sheet is comprised between about 50 percent and about 80 percent of the total weight of the sheet; and • Further compressing (110) the sheet compressed by the first pair of rollers between a second pair of rollers. The invention further relates to an apparatus (200) for producing a sheet of a material containing alkaloids.
