Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2020126334A1] Arrangement made of a supporting element (18, 20) and a mounting support (10) and method for producing the arrangement. The invention relates to an arrangement comprising a mounting support (10) for a motor vehicle front end, wherein the arrangement has two supporting elements (18, 20) for supporting a panel element, wherein the supporting elements (18, 20) are each arranged on one side of the motor vehicle, relative to the vehicle centre in the transverse direction of the vehicle, wherein the supporting elements (18, 20) are fixed to the mounting support (10) and each extend over a portion of the mounting support (10) in the vehicle transverse direction, wherein the supporting elements (18, 20) project forward with respect to the mounting support (10) in the vehicle longitudinal direction, wherein a panel element, which is an external skin element of the front of the motor vehicle and extends predominantly in the vehicle transverse direction, can be supported on at least one of the supporting elements (18, 20).
