Abstract (en)

The invention relates to a new bath that folds down onto a shower tray, which reduces the space used for bodily hygiene by means of the installation of a bath on a new or existing shower tray. The new bath allows the user to have, in the same space, a shower tray and a bath that is accessible for people who have needs relating to limited movement in old age. The invention increases bath safety and versatility, with options that converge in a single room and providing facilities for cleaning. The bath includes lowering systems for moving the bath assembly, and faucets, bathing equipment, hydromassage and other elements.
