Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2020172226A1] Disclosed herein are smart device concealment systems. The concealment systems can be attached to a user's body or a user's garment and worn as a functional or fashion accessory. The systems can consist of a concealment member, an attachment mechanism configured to attach the concealment system to the user's body or the user's garment, and the concealment member is configured to permit a user to engage the smart device while the smart device is concealed.
