Abstract (en)

[origin: EP3933522A1] An object is to provide a function of managing data exchanged with an external device. A control device (100) defines a publishing setting (126) of a process value (124) in accordance with information on at least one of an execution result of a control program (122) and an operating state of the control device (100). The control device (100) exchanges a data set (128) including at least part of one or more process values with the external device in accordance with the defined publishing setting (126).
