Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2022002684A1] The invention relates to an article clothing (1) having a shoulder part (2) with a neck cutout and a turn-down collar (3) which is connected to the shoulder part (2) and runs along the neck cutout. A collar label (6) is releasably attached to the article of clothing (1) in that the article of clothing (1) is provided with a clothing-side connection element (13) permanently connected to the article of clothing (1) and the collar label (6) is provided with a label-side connection element (12) and in that the clothing-side connection element (13) permanently connected to the article of clothing (1) and the label-side connection element (12) produce a releasable connection between the article of clothing (1) and the collar label (6). As part of a method for releasably attaching a collar label (6) to an article of clothing (1), a releasable connection is produced between the article of clothing (1) and the collar label (6) by means of a clothing-side connection element (13) permanently connected to the article of clothing (1) and a label-side connection element (12) which is provided on the collar label (6) and interacts with the clothing-side connection element (13).
