Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2020187884A1] The invention relates to a workpiece having a created surface structure that forms a decorative pattern, wherein an optically detectable code is integrated into a reference area of the surface structure of the workpiece. Furthermore, a method is provided for creating a workpiece having such a code or marking. A workpiece of this type can, for example, be a workpiece or item that is used in the field of furniture or building components, in particular can be a piece of furniture or a part of a piece of furniture.
