Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2020260509A1] The invention relates to a hinge assembly and an article of furniture having such a hinge assembly. The hinge assembly serves to connect support legs to the article of furniture, wherein a coupling link assembly is provided to synchronize the pivoting movement of two associated support legs, which coupling link arrangement is arranged so as to be offset from a preloading means via which the support legs are preloaded in two positions, preferably a normal position and a crossover position. The preloading means preferably acts directly on one of the support legs.
