Abstract (en)
[origin: EP3991605A1] The invention describes a detachable modular sofa comprising a platform (1), seats and shaping elements (3), such as backrests and armrests, wherein the sofa comprises a structure (2) intended to be anchored to a base board (12) and to the platform (1), by means of anchoring legs (5), and the shaping elements (3) comprise a groove (9) intended to house the structure (2), so that the sofa is assembled by inserting the anchoring legs (5) of the structure (2) into the drill holes of the base board (12) until the support bars (6) rest on it and, subsequently, inserting the structure (2) into the groove (9) of the shaping element (3) to insert the assembly into holes (4) comprising the platform (1), which provides the configuration with great flexibility and great rigidity to the assembly.
