Abstract (en)
A magazine loader (100) for loading cartridges (24) in a rifle magazine (22) comprises a body (140) having a body interior and an open bottom sized to receive an upper end of the rifle magazine (22), wherein a slot is sized for receiving individual cartridges into the body interior. The magazine loader (100) further comprises a cap (120) which has a cap interior, is configured to be slidably attached to the body (140), and has a projection for pushing a cartridge (24) inserted into the body interior into the rifle magazine (22) when the rifle magazine (22) is inserted into the open bottom of the body (140). One of the cap (120) and body (140) has two slide guides and the other one of the cap (120) and body (140) has two spring members to bias the cap (120) to an upward position with respect to the body (140). A latch holds the rifle magazine (22) in position relative to the body (140).
