Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2021053497A1] The invention relates to a protection device (1) and a vehicle (100) equipped with such a protection device. The device protects a space separating a rotating apparatus (200) and a base (100) relative to which the apparatus (200) is intended to rotate. The device (1) comprises a plurality of flexible tongues (10) intended to be attached to the base (100) and has a length L ranging between the height of half the space (H) and the height of the space (H), the tongues (10) being intended to be distributed over an area of the base (100) around the apparatus (200), the area extending below the apparatus (100) in the space (H).
