Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2021058516A1] The invention relates to a press punch for a tablet press machine. The press punch preferably comprises a measuring device which can function self-sufficiently in terms of power, independent of the voltage supply for the tablet press machine. The invention also relates to a tablet press machine comprising said press punch, and to a method for monitoring a tablet press machine with the press punch according to the invention during continuous operation.
