Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2021185902A1] The invention relates to a drawer element for an item of furniture, comprising at least one wall (2, 3, 4), at least parts of which are formed by a light-permeable wall element (22), wherein the wall element (22) has two opposing narrow surfaces (222, 224). The drawer element is characterised in that the light permeable wall element (22) can be removed from the wall (2, 3, 4), rotated about a horizontal axis by 180° and reinserted, wherein the two narrow surfaces (222, 224) of the wall element (22) that are horizontal in the installation position have different optical properties. The invention also relates to an item of furniture comprising a drawer element of this type.
