Abstract (en)
[origin: CA3188468A1] The invention relates to a method for producing a layer, in particular for coating and/or producing a component. The invention also relates to a manufacturing system and a component. The invention in particular relates to a method for producing a layer, in particular for coating and/or producing a component, comprising the steps of: arranging a preformed fusion body (100) on a main body (200), and fusing the preformed fusion body (100) in order to form an integral bond between the main body (200) and the preformed fusion body (100).
