Abstract (en)
[origin: EP4201267A1] The present application relates to a curtain accessory and discloses a curtain rod mounting bracket, including a base and a supporting rod mounted in the base, a rod holding support is provided on the end of the supporting rod away from the base, a mounting groove is formed in the rod holding support, a curtain rod positioning clamp is detachably mounted in the mounting groove, a curtain rod loading opening is formed in the curtain rod positioning clamp, and the opening size of the curtain rod loading opening is smaller than the internal size of the curtain rod loading opening. The mounting bracket in the form of replaceable curtain rod positioning clamp in the present application can be adapted according to different diameters of the curtain rods, so that the mounting bracket can adapt to curtain rods with different diameters to improve the universality of the mounting bracket. The split type base can adjust the position of the support rod relative to the fixing portion, so that the mounting bracket can be better adapted when applied in pairs.
