Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2022069191A1] The invention relates to a connection element for a field probe combination, to a field probe combination having such a connection element, to a corresponding connection element, to a plug-socket system, to a production method for the connection element and the field probe combination with connection element, and to the use of the plug-socket system. The connection element has a temperature sensor for determining the temperature of a field probe combination.
