Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2022162376A1] A system for dispensing a frozen or semi-frozen confection. The system comprises: a container containing frozen or semi-frozen confection, the container including or defining an outlet for dispensing frozen or semi-frozen confection from the container; and a dispensing apparatus having a support for supporting the container, and a movable part for applying a load to the container for a dispensing operation. The container includes a cover extending over the outlet prior to a dispensing operation. The cover is configured to break open under load from frozen or semi-frozen confection within the container generated during normal operation of the movable part for a dispensing operation, to allow frozen or semi-frozen confection to be dispensed through the outlet.
