Abstract (en)
[origin: CN117301242A] The invention relates to a method for producing a bottle cap for plugging a bottle such that it can be forcibly inserted into the neck of the bottle, said method comprising the following steps:-cutting (1a) a cork sheet to be glued on the cap part and on the roller part of the bottle cap; -gluing (2a, 2b, 2c) one of said cork pieces on the roller portion of the reduced-diameter semi-finished bottle cap by depositing an adhesive suitable for food contact, followed by baking; and-gluing (3a, 3b, 3c) each other cork sheet on each cap portion of the reduced-diameter semi-finished bottle cap by depositing an adhesive suitable for food contact, followed by baking; the reduced-diameter semi-finished bottle cap is a bottle cap formed from shredded cork glued under pressure with a polyurethane adhesive, the diameter of which is uniformly reduced by a thickness equal to twice the thickness of the cork sheet glued on the roller.
