Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2022236150A1] An article for cleaning or hand-washing an object includes a core substrate comprising a plurality of fibers including a resin. The core substrate has one or more abrasive surfaces and contains an active cleaning formulation. The resin and the core substrate are water-dispersible upon contact with water at a low temperature, such as 40°C or below, and water-soluble upon contact with water at a higher temperature.
