Abstract (en)
The present invention relates to a multilevel drying oven and a method for using the same. The multilevel drying oven comprises an airshaft having inlets and outlets and a fan with a suction side and a pressure side for generating an air flow in the airshaft from the inlets to the outlets. The oven comprises a stack of separate drying spaces, each drying space having a ceiling and a floor surrounding the drying space. The ceiling and the floor each comprises air channels for creating a separate air flow for each drying space.
