⑤④ Fabrics exhibiting a surface pattern of a decorative or active nature.

⑤⑦ An entangled composite fabric having a sharply delineated pattern on the upper surface, and a method for producing same without any additional off-line finishing step. The fabric of the invention has the feel of a soft linen. The method comprises placing a repulpable printed paper sheet (9) on a textile fabric (18) and entangling this laminate by means of streams of liquid (14).

The print on the paper sheet may be decorative or may be made of an active agent.
