Retractable clothes-lines support.

The subject of the instant patent is a retractable linen spreading, provided with a particular adaptability feature on all type of manufactured items, both to be put inside or outside, that can take three different operating positions, that is closed position, perfectly on the vertical middle line with reference to its anchorage, inside opening position, with the arms along the perpendicular axis, outside opening position, being as above on the middle line, but with opposite direction. The above mentioned arms are running, together with a fastening bolt, within a purposely made hollow slot included in the upper element, which consents not only the translation movement but also a 270° rotation in the three already mentioned working positions.
