(54) Disposable curtain for interiors

(57) The present invention relates to a disposable curtain for interiors. The curtain (1) comprises a pleated strip (2) that can be fixed to a supporting structure (10) with one of its sides running parallel to the pleats. At least one clip (3) is also provided and is associable with the opposite side of the strip (2) to lock in gathered position a variable number of the pleats, so as to vary the degree of folding and unfolding of the curtain (1).
