Attachment clip

(57)

An attachment clip (1) for suspending a radiator (2) on a suspension device is disposed on one side of the radiator (2). The clip (1) has a transport position where it is disposed adjacent or partly inside the outer contour of the radiator (2), and a mounting position where it projects a distance out from the outer contour of the radiator (2).

A method of suspending a radiator (2) provided with an attachment clip comprises the step that the clip (1), prior to suspension, is acted on so as to assume a mounting position from the transport position. The mounting position is suitable for suspension.
