(54) Container particularly for precut sheets

(57) A container (1) particularly for precut sheets (37), provided with a mechanism (31) for lifting the paper which is inserted within the bottom of the container and allows to lift the pre-cut sheets (37) to the height required in order to prevent the sheets from sliding into the container (1), making them difficult to remove. The container also has incisions (53) for supporting the paper which are located at the sides of the opening (41) of the box, again in order to retain the sheets.
