(54) A beverage or service container and use thereof

(57) A beverage or service container has two compartments (3, 4) which are separated by a wall (5), where the first chamber (3) is used for a beverage, while the second chamber (4) is used for the storage of an ingredient or a means which is included in the making of the beverage.

A portion of the edge of the container or of the wall at the second chamber is configured with at least one shoulder (6, 7, 24), where the edge of the container has holding means in the form of a recess (8), which extends curve-shaped (11) and is terminated by a wedge (9).

With the invention, e.g. a tea bag may be placed in the second chamber, and its string is locked in the groove so that the tea bag may be removed without it being necessary to grip the tea bag inside the second chamber (4).
