(54) Foldable structure for the assembly of a tent

(57) Folding structure for the assembly of a tent; which comprises a plurality of parallel arcs consisting of dividers with side branches articulated to an upper connecting part, said branches being connected by their ends or intermediate areas with those of other arcs by interlocking dividers, whilst the side branches of the dividers of the arcs are connected by a connecting part also connected with the connecting parts of the adjacent arcs by lateral crossbars which can be fitted together, by an articulation of two perpendicular axes with stops implemented in the connecting parts of the branches of the arcs, implementing rollers carrying straps solidly joined to the canvas of the tent, to facilitate its assembly-dismantling.
