(54) Window for a double skin facade

(57) A window fitting (4) for a double skin facade (8) comprising a frame (12) having a first sash (16), facing an inner side (20), and a second sash (24) facing an outer side (28). The sashes (16, 24) face each other and are spaced so as to define a cavity (32). Advantageously, the sashes (16, 24) are hinged to the frame (12) and both can be opened, independently of each other, towards the inside of the facade (8). The second sash (24) comprises a pane (52) which is constrained by connection devices positioned towards the inside of the window fitting (4) so as not to prove visible from the outside of the facade (8).
