(54) Vehicle headlamp

(57) There is provided a vehicle headlamp including: plural semiconductor light emitting elements (15) which are arranged in a left and right direction and each has a light emitting surface; plural first reflectors each provided for corresponding one of the semiconductor light emitting elements (15), each including: a first upper reflector (18u) on an upper side of the light emitting surface; a first lower reflector (18d) on a lower side of the light emitting surface; a first right reflector (18r) on a right side of the light emitting surface; and a first left reflector (18l) on a left side of the light emitting surface, a projection lens which projects light emitted from the semiconductor light emitting elements (15) toward a outside region. A reflection surface of the first right reflector (18r) and a reflection surface of the first left reflector (18l) are formed as a flat surface.
